

ESG rankings and ratings

Besides strategy integration we set out to also focus on disclosure integration in FY23 to align with reporting standards and improve our ESG ratings.

The 2023 ESG ratings survey conducted by SustainAbility found that the number of investor respondents who required the integration of ESG ratings and data into investment practices rose to 43% from 12% during the course of the past five years, with 94% using ESG products at least once a month and 47% multiple times per week.

Our proactive engagement with rating agencies has yielded positive results. The graph illustrates our improvement in standardised ISS, CDP, S&P and FTSE ratings from where we started to the present against our peer group.

Our aim is to maintain these ratings and, where possible, make incremental improvements.
